

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
MIDDLE DISTRICT OF FLORIDA
TAMPA DIVISION

AARON ZIEGLER,

Plaintiff,

v.

Case No: 8:20-cv-3002-KKM-AEP

CHRISTOPHER NOCCO et al.,

Defendants.

ORDER

Aaron Ziegler, along with many other plaintiffs, joined a suit alleging Defendants were engaged in racketeering. See Squitieri v. Nocco, 8:19-cv-906. The Court severed that action, requiring Ziegler to pursue his claims separately from the other plaintiffs. As such, Ziegler initiated the instant action, ultimately bringing racketeering and constitutional claims. (Doc. 15.) The Court dismissed his Amended Complaint with prejudice. (Doc. 24.) Defendants then moved for sanctions against Ziegler and Ziegler's attorneys under 28 U.S.C. § 1927, 42 U.S.C. § 1988, and this Court's inherent authority. (Doc. 26.) For the reasons stated in this Court's recent order in Squitieri, the Court grants-in-part Defendants' motion. 8:19-cv-906 (Doc. 226). The Court concluded that the conduct of Ziegler's counsel in filing his Amended Complaint, an egregious shotgun pleading, unreasonably and vexatiously multiplied the proceedings. As such, Ziegler's attorneys are liable for the "excess costs, expenses, and attorneys' fees reasonably incurred" by Defendants in responding to Ziegler's Amended Complaint. § 1927. Further, the Court concluded that Ziegler's § 1983 claim was objectively frivolous, rendering him liable for the attorney's fees Defendants reasonably incurred defending against the § 1983 claim. But the Court did not find any subjective bad faith from Ziegler or his counsel, and thus sanctions under this Court's inherent authority are not warranted.

Accordingly, the following is ORDERED:

1. Defendants' Motion on Entitlement to Attorneys' Fees is GRANTED-IN-PART. (Doc. 26.) Specifically, Ziegler's counsel, John McGuire and Luke Lirot, are jointly and severally liable for the attorney's fees Defendants reasonably incurred responding to Ziegler's Amended Complaint. Ziegler is jointly and severally liable with his attorneys for the attorney's fees Defendants reasonably incurred responding to his § 1983 claim.
2. The Court DIRECTS Defendants under Local Rule 7.01(c) to file a Supplemental Motion on Amount within forty-five days of this Order.

ORDERED in Tampa, Florida, on April 18, 2022.
